HOPKINS COUNTY MAN IN IMPORTANT SENATE POSITION

Popular Ben Salmon, Who Fills one of the Best Places at Frankfort

Ben Salmon, mail clerk in the Kentucky Senate, spent the week end at his home at Isley, taking the country air and enjoying the companionship of his kinfolk and particular friends. Ben is a capable and popular young man and has a happy way of making many friends. He is the son of Senator R. M. Salmon. The position he now fills is a pleasant though responsible one and one of the best places within the gift of the Senate. Reports come to The Bee that Ben is making good in every way and is already widely and favorably known to many Kentuckians in and out of politics, who frequent the State capitol. Politics rather runs in the family and if Ben should turn his attention in that direction he would no doubt find a way to success the pursuit. Anyway he has many friends in his neck o' the woods who are pleased at his preferment.

Nicola Naumoff, the Russian, who has just reached the age of 21, having murdered an insured fiancée for a seductive countess in romantic Venice, has, in his confession, related how this notorious dame had a little way of extinguishing her cigarettes on his bare flesh—just to see him wince, as she loved him best when he suffered.

His Prospect.

Small Willie had worn his older brother's cast-off garments as long as he could remember. One day he said: "Johnny's got the measles. I s'pose I'll get 'em as soon as he out-grows 'em."

Diagnosed.

"That's a smart thing I've done," said the doctor to his assistant. "What's that, doctor?" "I have put my signature in the column 'cause of death' in this death certificate."—The Times.

Initiative.

"The man that's a-trying something new that gets laughed at every time. And he is generally right—the rest are wrong. Somebody has got to begin and be gored like a fool, and then the rest of the pack will follow him. I do the same thing every time I get up to position on the back and let him to know, and from that time on he is on his guard."—The Times.

It is said that the nut trees of the world could furnish nourishment for the entire population of the globe. Brazil nuts grow in such profusion that great quantities are wasted every year.

HAD TAKEN "SOFT DRINKS"

And a Hard Fight Follows at Guthrie

In a general fight which took place at the rear of Moulton's "soft drink" place, in Guthrie Eugene Scott was shot in the leg by C. C. Rist, who in turn was badly beaten up by Scott.

Neither man, however, is in a serious condition. The fight was the result of a drunken row, and appears to have been started by a friendly scuffle.

Warrants have been issued from the Guthrie police court and a trial will be had as soon as the injured men are able to appear.

Half a dozen or more participated in the affair, but no one, with the exception of Scott and Rist, received anything more than a few scratches.—Todd County Times.

It is thought that he was intoxicated and when the train neared Claxton he tried to stop the train by shutting off the air cock. Instead of shutting it off gradually he shut it off at once which stopped the train suddenly throwing him beneath the wheels and cutting off his right leg above the ankle. He was taken to Claxton where the doctor from Dawson amputated the rest of his limb endeavoring to save his life, but he died about 24 hours after the accident. He is survived by his wife formerly a Miss Kyle of Sebree.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY BEE.

Madisonville Christian Church

Christian Endeavor had its day Sunday with special music, recitations and an address by the minister on the subject of, "Young People's Work in the Church." At the morning hour a large audience went with the minister through Christ's Beatitudes as a Scripture study.

Mrs. B. Johnson, who recently lost her good husband in the West, was an appreciative worshiper at the morning hour as was Mrs. Henry Beard of New York.

The Official Board of the Church had an important meeting Sunday afternoon and adjourned to meet next Sunday 9:00 a. m. in the minister's study to further consider an important theme in reference to the church's advancement.

Wednesday evening prayer meeting promises a most interesting session with speakers chosen in advance.

Little Beverly Wadell missed Sunday school for the first time in 1912, being confined to his bed with a threatened attack of pneumonia.

All departments of the church work are in active condition at present and it is our desire that 1912 shall be the best year in the history of this church.

For Baby's Eyes.

Mothers, please do not send your babies out without any shade for the eyes. Even though it is not summer time, they should not be allowed to be with the sun shining in their eyes. All sorts of troubles result from this, eye inflammations of many kinds, often defective vision and nervous conditions, which remain for life. If you would try lying with the sun shining in your eyes for an hour or so you would soon realize how disagreeable it is for a baby in a good or car to be subjected to it.

An Old Custom

In many parts of the world it is the custom to regard the first woman seen on the morning of St. Valentine's day as the valentine for the year, and it is the custom to bestow a gift on the one so regarded. It was this custom that Shakespeare refers to in Hamlet, when he makes Ophelia say:

"All in the morning betime,
Am I a maid at your window,
To be your Valentine."

Like a good many other old festivals and customs the origin of St. Valentine's Day is uncertain. Of myths and legends concerning it there are plenty, but of none of them can it be said with certainty, it is the actual source. Perhaps one cause for the tenacity with which some of these old customs survive may be found in the very mystery which surround their birth. While many of the quaint customs formerly associated with this day have long since disappeared the custom of sending Valentine's is still in vogue and will likely continue for many years.

The Turbine.

The first steam turbine-fitted vessel was constructed by the Hon. C. A. Parsons at his works at Newcastle-on-Tyne. The Turbina, a small vessel 100 feet in length, made her trial trip November 4, 1894. The system rapidly developed owing to increased speed of the vessels fitted with turbine engines and the economy effected in coal; improvements were made in their construction, and today the turbine ship is popular the world over.
